Comments and Questions:

The BT aims at analysing relations between two important economies – Russian Federation and China, in order to identify mutual interdependence and opportunities in investment and trade open in mutual relations. First and second chapters are a basis for the analysis as they provide the main economic features of both countries. The last chapter analysis economic relations of the countries and provide concrete examples of it. This is the most valuable part of the BT. The BT in general has a logical structure and the author provides relevant conclusions. For the defence, I suggest the following questions: 1. Consider impact of New Silk Road on mutual economic relations? 2. How could be the economic potential of the mutual cooperation of both countries to be strengthened even further?

Conclusion: The Bachelor Thesis is recommended for the defence.
