Overall evaluation (cca 150 words):

The readiness of the labour market for changes in the period 4.0 is a very current and not yet sufficiently elaborate topic. The aim of the bachelor thesis is formulated clearly and unambiguously. However, it would be appropriate to include a note on the example of Gazprom in the title of the thesis. Thus, the title of the work would better reflect the set goal. The theoretical study is sufficiently elaborate, the chapters have a logical connection. The author presents an up-to-date analysis of the state of knowledge in full accordance with the main aim of the thesis. The method of her own research used is relevant to the set goal and corresponds to the requirements of the bachelor's thesis. Overall, the thesis is beneficial and it shows the author's ability to practically apply the knowledge and skills acquired through the study. The thesis is eligible for defense.
